

BORAH SETS AT REST RUMORS OF SPLIT WITH SENATOR HARDING

Telegraphs Candidate That He Wants to See Him Win and League of Nations Beaten and That He Will Work "In Own Way" to Secure Both Ends.

By Telegram to the Freeman.
Marion, O., Oct. 5.—Senator Warren G. Harding has received personal assurance from Senator William E. Borah, one of the peace treaty irreconcilables, that he had not withdrawn from active participation in the campaign, as widely reported.

Senator Harding today made public a telegram received from the Idaho senator in which he said he would continue to work for Harding's election and the league's defeat in "his own way."

The telegram to Senator Harding said:

"In view of reports, I wish you to know my speeches in future will be along the same lines as at Dayton and in the senate. I want to see you win and I want to see the league scheme defeated. In my own way I shall devote my time to the achievement of both propositions.

(Signed) "WILLIAM E BORAH."

At Harding headquarters here today it was stated that this telegram, together with Hiram Johnson's utterances in California, effectively put at rest the widely circulated reports that the two senators had forsaken the Harding cause because of dissatisfaction with Harding's attitude on the league of nation's issue.

In this connection Senator Harding will, at Des Moines on next Thursday, deal with some aspects of the league issue as raised by President Wilson in his White House statement of yesterday. Asked today,

"I shall have nothing to say touching on the league of nations until my Des Moines speech on Thursday when I expect to devote some attention to the matter."

ATELL STILL HIDES IN N. Y. COX PREDICTS REPUBLICAN SPLIT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 5.—The name of Arnold Rothstein was again pulled into the investigation into the 1919 world's series here today when District Attorney Swann said he had been informed that Rothstein had advised several of his friends to bet on Cincinnati, but also had informed a few not too wise men to wager on the White Sox. Some men, the money of the latter named, the district attorney intimated had found its way into the pockets of the "king of gamblers."

Swann said no subpoena had been issued for Rothenstein, but decided to go to the city and find out whether he was really known for the gambling without offering him a chance to gain immunity from prosecution. "I don't want to give Mr. Rothenstein immunity under any circumstances," he said.

But Artell, former featherweight champion, who threatened to "blow the whistle" on the gambler, decided to swing in sentiment toward the Democratic candidates. He was not surprised to hear of the declaration of Senator Borah at Danbury last night against any league or association whatsoever and that he would support neither (but that) Borah a Johnson will definitely split with the Republican candidate.

The lid off "the investigation," still was in hiding today. His counsel declared Atteli is in town and will appear when it becomes necessary.

TO BE NO FEWER HOUSE MEMBERS

In Congress as Result of Census—State and Political Jealousies Prevent—Republicans Threaten to Reduce South's Representation Because of Disfranchisement of Negroes.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—As a result of the census just taken congress will soon have to take up the problem of increasing the population basis of representation in the house of representatives, or of increasing the number of representatives in the house. Under the present apportionment each house theoretically represents a population of 21,877. There are 435 house members. As it works out in practice each house member now actually represents 210,504 population.

The new census gives continental United States a population of approximately 105,000,000. If the present ratio of representation is maintained the house membership would be increased to about 500 members. It is the problem of congress to allow this increase which would add about 65 members to the house, or to increase the ratio of population so that the number of representatives will remain the same—435. Or congress can so increase the ratio that the present number—435—can be reduced.

After the 1910 census the membership of the house was increased from 393 to 435. It is believed, from interviews with congressional leaders, that the next session will enlarge the house membership to about 500.

In all probability this will be done despite arguments of some leaders (but they are in the minority) that the house membership is now too large and unwieldy to effectively, and particularly expeditiously, transact congressional business. Opponents of a reduction in membership point to the membership of the English house of commons, which numbers more than 700, and is a model for the transaction of public business.

The principal influence, however, which will prevent any reduction in the house membership, and which will work for increased representation is the jealousy of every one of the states, all of which fear that a reduction in the number of their house representatives would reduce their influence, as states, in the national legislature. In so called "doubtful states," where Republicans and Democrats are almost on a voting equality in numbers, both parties will resist any reduction of representatives both fearing that a rearrangement of congressional districts would disturb their possible political control.

There is only one chance that congress may reduce the number of representatives. If the Republicans retain control of congress, which now seems certain, with an increased majority in house and senate, they may decide to reduce the number of house representatives from the southern states. This would be done on the ground that millions of the colored population of the southern states are disfranchised. The Republicans argue that as practically all negroes are disfranchised by various devices in the south that a large percentage of the population of the sixteen southern states is not allowed to have representation in congress, and that scores of representatives from the south are not entitled to seats in the house on this ground.

The fourteenth amendment to the constitution provides that when the right to vote is denied to any of the inhabitants of a state, or in any way "abridged," the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the same proportion which the number disfranchised citizens shall bear to the whole number of citizens of such state. This undoubtedly gives a Republican congress authority to reduce representation in the house from southern states which have disfranchised the negro. The southern states now have 108 house members. This number would be reduced materially if congress sees fit to enforce the fourteenth amendment.

For many years Republicans in congress have threatened to reduce southern representation in the house. Disfranchisement of the negro women in the south, despite the nineteenth amendment, may bring the matter to a head in the next congress.

Greetings, Pete!

Here I am tonight in Winston-Salem where more tobacco is manufactured than in any other place on the face of the earth! And, W-S is some speed city, as well as the largest in North Carolina! They're rushing up a million dollar hotel, got a corking league ball team, regular skyscraper buildings and as much action as you'll look for in New York!

When I knocked off for the day, I buzzed around like a hungry bee in a buckwheat field—up and down long streets of R.T. Reynolds Tobacco Co. factories!

As the Reynolds enterprise proved out more and more gigantic and I talked with more men about it, I got the real and true answer as to why Camels are so good and so entirely different from any other cigarette! I'll spin it for you, old top—listen:

Every man I talked with made the one big point that the officials and the more than 350 Reynolds foremen have an inborn knowledge of the tobacco business; that (putting it into a North Carolina expression) they were virtually "born and raised in a tobacco patch"; that they know tobacco; how to grade it, blend it, and how to manufacture and sell it!

And, what's most important of all, Pete, these Reynolds folks sure give men what they want—the best that can be produced! Why—Peter, it took months to perfect Camels Turkish and Domestic blend—and that refreshing flavor—and wonderful mild, mellow body—before a single Camel cigarette was sold! Guess that will repay your interest, old liberty bond!

Tomorrow, I'm going to meet some of the Reynolds folks. Got to see inside of those factories!

And, you know me!

21 INDICTMENTS ARE HANDED UP

Cases Vary From Murder and Manslaughter to Unlawfully Entering a Building—Their Disposition.

The grand jury, which has been in session for the past two weeks, reported to County Judge Joseph M. Fowler in the county court at 3 o'clock this afternoon, handing up twenty-one indictments, of which number five were sealed, and two dismissed.

Of the indictments, two each are for murder in the second degree, one for manslaughter in the second degree, the others are for robbery, burglary, grand larceny, unlawfully entering a building and carrying firearms without a license.

After the grand jury had handed up its indictments, they were discharged with the thanks of the court.

In cases in which sealed indictments were handed up, District Attorney Traver moved for the issuance of bench warrants for the arrest of the defendants and they were issued.

Two Cases Dismissed.

The dismissal of charges were in the case of the People against Henry Moore, who was charged with assault in the second degree, and in the case of the People against John Gaudalone, who was charged with grand larceny in the second degree.

In cases in which the sixteen open indictments were found, the defendants have been confined in the Ulster county jail and they were arraigned by District Attorney Traver.

Two Murder Cases.

George Watkins was arraigned on a charge of murder in the second degree, committed on June 29 at the town of Saugerties, where he shot and killed William Brown.

Watkins is the negro who killed his fellow workman at the Staples brickyard at Malden.

W. D. Brinnier, Jr., stated that his father had been looking after Watkins, but was now out of town. He understood Watkins had no funds, and on his behalf entered a plea of not guilty.

Anna Brauer was arraigned on a charge of murder in the second degree, committed in the town of Wawarsing on May 11, when she abandoned her infant child in the woods near Cragmoor. She formerly lived at Ellenville but some time ago went to work at West Hoboken, N. J., where she gave birth to a child. Later she took the child by train to the town of Wawarsing, where she left it in the woods near the place where her husband had been killed in an runaway accident several years before.

Cleon B. Murray of Ellenville appeared for her, entered a plea of not guilty, and as a specification under that plea, pleaded insanity and asked the appointment of a commission. The court will make the appointment later.

Albert Guida was arraigned on a charge of carrying firearms. He was represented by W. D. Brinnier, Jr., and entered a plea of not guilty.

Ellenville Manslaughter Case.

Howard Brock was arraigned on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree, committed at Ellenville on August 10, when he struck Howard H. Kidder, who was an attendant at the Rome Custodial School, from which Brock had escaped some time before, knocking him down and fracturing his skull.

Frank H. Finn of Middletown appeared for him, entered a plea of not guilty, and as a specification under that plea, pleaded insanity and asked that a commission be appointed. Judge Fowler will make the appointment later.

The Wawarsing Highwaymen.

Judson Decker, John Collins and Claude Delamater were arraigned on a charge of robbery in the first degree, committed in the town of Wawarsing on August 21, in holding up Paul Molczanuk, a pilot and stealing from him the sum of $25 in cash and a gold watch valued at $10.

A second indictment charged them with burglary in the third degree, with a second count charging unlawfully entering a building, committed in the town of Wawarsing on August 17, in entering the New York Ontario & Western railroad station at Napasoch.

A third indictment against Decker, Collins and Delamater charged them with burglary in the third degree with a second count of unlawfully entering a building, in having entered the Napasoch railroad station on August 22.

A fourth indictment against Decker, Collins and Delamater charged them with robbery in the first degree, committed in the town of Wawarsing on August 21 in robbing Michael Cincowicz of a gold watch valued at $10. John R. DeVary appeared for Delamater and entered a plea in all cases. Decker asked for an examination by a doctor before entering a plea. Collins pleaded guilty to all indictments except the fourth. Decker pleaded guilty.

Ellenville Burglary.

Arthur Eck and Stephen Lewis were arraigned on a charge of burglary in the third degree, committed in the town of Wawarsing on June 11, in entering the store stand of the Union News Company at the Ellenville railroad depot.

A second indictment against Eck and Lewis charged them with carrying a dangerous weapon, committed at the same place on July 4.

Eck and Charles Bennett were charged in another indictment with burglary in the third degree, in having entered the Union News Company stand at the Ellenville station on August 22.

Eck, Lewis and Bennett, all pleaded guilty.

Charges on Study a Ford.

Charles A. Decker was arraigned on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree, committed in the town of Wawarsing on July 11, in appropriating to his own use a Ford automobile valued at $400, the property of Sam Rosen.

Decker pleaded guilty, said he had no counsel and did not want any.

CLEVELAND 6 TO 5 FAVORITE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 8.—Bright sunshine and a cool October breeze greeted the Cleveland Indians on their arrival here this morning for the first game of the world series against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The invading American League champions were apparently none the worse for wear after an all night ride in Pullmans. At any rate they bristled with confidence and were in the highest of spirits.

Speaker and his players are eager to come to grips with the National League champions and they will have their wish granted at two o'clock this afternoon when with some 25,000 fans looking on, umpire Hank O'Day will give the command to play ball.

Ebbets Field will be about as roomy as the inside of a sardine can with all the sardines at home. Every reserved seat was sold hours ago and there were long lines of fans in front of the ticket window waiting the sale of unreserved seats, scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock. Many of the fans waited all night long, huddled in their posts in spite of a rain storm which broke over the city about midnight.

Interest in the series reached the usual heights here today despite the unusual reflection cast upon the national pastime by the 1919 world's series scandal.

None of the members of the Dodgers or Indians has ever been within the shadow of suspicion and the baseball public is satisfied that the big blue ribbon event of the autumn will be played strictly on its merits.

The Cleveland Club will go into the big series today a 6 to 5 favorite in the betting. Speaker's boys are generally conceded to be a much harder hitting and faster sliding club than the National League champions, and despite the fact that Brooklyn apparently has a decided edge in the pitching department the Indians have been picked as the next world's champions.

Interest in the selection of the pitchers held the fans as the hour for the first game approached.

Manager Robinson says he intends to start a southpaw against the invaders. If he sticks to this plan either Sherry Smith or Rube Marquard will be sent to the firing line in the first game.

Manager Speaker, it is expected, will change of his two aces—Bagby or Coveleski—to the hurling top. As Bagby pitched his last game Saturday the chances favored Coveleski to start today's game.

If the Dodgers use Smith or Marquard there will probably be several changes in the batting order of the Cleveland Club, with the chance that Evans may lead off instead of Jamieson and play left field, and Joe Wood be sent to right field in place of Smith. Johnston, it was believed, will be kept at first base, although Speaker has George Burns to play in that position.

The men who will judge the play in the big series are Hank O'Day, Bill Klem, Tom Connolly and Bill Dineen.

O'Day will be at the plate. Connolly at first base, Klem at second base and Dineen at third.

Brooklyn fans who seemed to take the victory of the Robins rather passively, have awakened to the fact that the 1920 National League champions are a much better ball club than that which captured the pennant for Brooklyn four years ago.

The Dodgers are conceded to be one of the "tightest" clubs that have ever won a pennant in the mother league and Manager Wilbert Robinson himself says they are as game an aggregation as he has ever seen.

"Every player on my club is physically fit for the big series and rarin' to go," said Robby this morning. "What's more, we have a pretty good hunch that we are going to be the next world's champions."

Comeback always plays a prominent part in a world's series and I want to say right here that no gamer bunch of players were ever assembled on one ball club—and I've seen several.

"The members of the Cleveland club are strangers to me for the most part," Robby continued, "but I have looked over their records and find that Speaker has one of the hardest hitting teams of recent years. Good pitching, however, can stop hard hitting, and that's where we shine. I have confidence in my pitchers and the boys behind them will do the rest."

"I plan to use a left hander against Cleveland today but I don't know as yet which one of the southpaws will be chosen."

BROOKLYN STIRRED BY BALL CROWDS

Usual Line of Early Birds Root All Night Outside Ticket Booths—Brooklyn Confident That Cleveland Is Favorite.

(By Sid Mercer)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 8.—At an early hour this morning, Charles H. Ebbets, the good, gray squire of Flatbush, looked out of an office window of Ebbets Field, where he had been toiling throughout the night to accommodate belated applicants for reserved seats.

The squire was looking for favorable weather signs, but what his gaze encountered was a thin line of huddled forms extending down Cedar Place to the bleacher entrance. The inevitable early birds were even then forming for an assault that was not to take place until eight or ten hours later.

Several young men claimed the distinction of being the first to knock at the Ebbets Field portals to gain admission for the opening game of the world's series between the Cleveland and Brooklyn teams today. They were all anxious to give their names and addresses and stand for flashlight photographs. One, who carried a camp chair, said he was the first in line, but during an unguarded and sleepy moment he was dispossessed and woke up to find himself in the middle of the street.

Activities within did not cease until long after the walls of Ebbets Field were banked with sleepy lines who had tickets for general admission to the $1 and $2 seats. Many of these same fans had stood in lines for hours yesterday awaiting their turn to purchase general admission.

This year there is to be no ticket hand out at the box offices on the day of the game, but as purchasers of the field seats will be accommodated on the "first come, first served" plan, those anxious to grab choice locations where the gates opened lined up hours before the scheduled time for the ticket takers to go on duty.

Four years ago in Brooklyn five hundred men and boys slept under the bleacher ticket windows all night to be the first in line to buy tickets. They had the tickets last night, but those who wanted the front seats in back of the out field, imposed the all night vigil on themselves.

Somehow a Brooklyn fan prefers discomfort to the prospect of not being first in or first out of affairs like these.

Down town, at the Hotel Clarendon, baseball writers from all major league cities gathered to pick up their press tickets and discuss the fracas. All day long fans bobbed in and out of the office gate at Ebbets Field to claim reservations and prospective purchasers of bleacher seats milled around in the streets before ticket windows. The supply of general admission seats—there are only about 7,000 of them—was exhausted by mid-day, but that did not prevent prospective customers from straggling up to the windows with plaintive requests for the coveted "ducats."

The Brooklyn players assembled for their preliminary workout late in the morning. As each of the favorites arrived he was recognized by the sharp-eyed boys hanging around the entrances. Rube Marquard drove up in a big limousine accompanied by Ed. Pfeffer and Manager Robinson. Burleigh Grimes, who was another strong public choice to open the series, worked out before noon with Otto Mier.

The Brooklyn players took advantage of the splendid weather to get up a good sweat and they showed the operators some fast work. Some of them remained in the club house until late in the afternoon. Others got away early and drove out to Jamaica to see the races.

Despite the fact that the American League champions have been made favorites in what little betting there is, the Dodgers are quite confident. They do not figure that the Indians have a thing on them in any department of the game.

London, Oct. 8.—"It pleases him and doesn't hurt us" was the headline used by the Daily Express today upon an American dispatch which quoted Governor James M. ZELENSKA BEING GRILLED HARD

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 5.—While the federal authorities have been unable to connect Florén Zelenka directly with the Wall street bomb blast in New York city, he is being continuously grilled in an effort to throw light upon extremist activities, particularly the source from which malcontents secured explosives.

Zelenka is held in the custody of department of justice agents and it was declared that it may be some time before they consent to turn him over to the New York police, who have made a request for him.

The prisoner, immediately after his arrest Sunday night on the charge of having a quantity of dynamite in his possession, made statements which indicated that he is a dangerous man, but a belief is growing in some quarters now that he may prove a crank or a notoriety seeker.

Detectives are trying to find the store where Zelenka is said to have purchased a trunk in which, it is said, he planned to ship dynamite to Brooklyn. The purchase was made on a previous visit to this city.

NIGHT SCHOOL OPENS OCT. 11

Special Classes Will be Formed for Foreign Born—Industrial Course To Be Given—Register Thursday or Friday Night.

Night school classes will be held in the high school beginning next Monday. The classes will meet every Monday Tuesday and Wednesday night from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. Classes will be formed in arithmetic, English, spelling, writing, American history and government, and book-keeping.

The industrial courses will include blueprint reading, elementary and advanced mechanical drafting with elements of shop mathematics.

A special class for young men and women of foreign birth will also be formed. This class with its teachings of history, government, language and customs will be a great aid to those seeking citizenship papers.

All those who plan to attend the night school may register in Room 10, first floor of the high school, Thursday or Friday evenings between 7:30 and 9 o'clock. As a pledge of good faith a deposit of $1 must be made. This will be paid back to the registrant if his attendance is 75 per cent of the nights the school is in session.

Prof. M. J. Michael, superintendent of schools, has sent the following letter to managers of shops and factories in the city:

Gentlemen: I am sending each of you several circulars announcing the opening of the night school which under the education laws the board of education must maintain for at least eighty nights during the school year. I am asking your earnest cooperation to bring to the attention of your employees the advantages this night school may offer. I have felt that we have not in the past reached all the people who might desire to avail themselves of this opportunity to study under the direction of competent teachers and am therefore taking this means to more widely advertise the night school.

May I ask you to post in as conspicuous places as possible in your factory or shop the inclosed announcements?

If from fifteen to twenty-five young women were to apply for courses of instruction in home making including sewing and cooking, I have no doubt the board of education would be glad to provide teachers in those subjects.

I also wish to call to your attention that all children over fourteen years of age and not yet fifteen in your employ are required under the education law, to attend the part time school which was organized last Tuesday afternoon in the machine shop at the high school. Only twelve such registered shows that about thirty children of this age are employed in the city under labor certificates. The failure on the part of these children to attend the part time school which will be in session every Tuesday afternoon from one to five o'clock will result in their dismissal from employment and will render the employer who fails to comply with the law subject to fine or imprisonment or both. I am asking you to notify any fourteen year old child, boy or girl, who may be in your employ, that he must attend the part time school.

MILLER A "FAN."

Insists on Seeing First World's Series Game.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Oct. 5.—Judge Nathan L. Miller, Republican candidate for governor, will put in the greater part of this week in New York and vicinity. On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will speak with him at a meeting at Glen Cove. Jeremiah Wood, candidate for lieutenant governor, will also speak at this meeting.

Although there have been demands for Judge Miller to speak on Wednesday afternoon, he has insisted that the Republican state committee gave him an opportunity to witness the world's series at Brooklyn, and he will go to the game that afternoon. Judge Miller will begin his campaign for the week at home. Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp of Syracuse will also speak there. At noon Wednesday he will address the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce. He will spend all of Thursday in Suffolk county, ending the night meetings at Patchogue and Riverhead. Friday noon he will be at Catskill, where he will be joined by Mrs. Knapp, going from there to address a meeting at Saugerties at 4 p. m. and at Kingston at night.

As Judge Miller will have to go home to register, no day meetings have been scheduled for him for Saturday, but he will speak Saturday night at Auburn.

AT THE THEATRES.

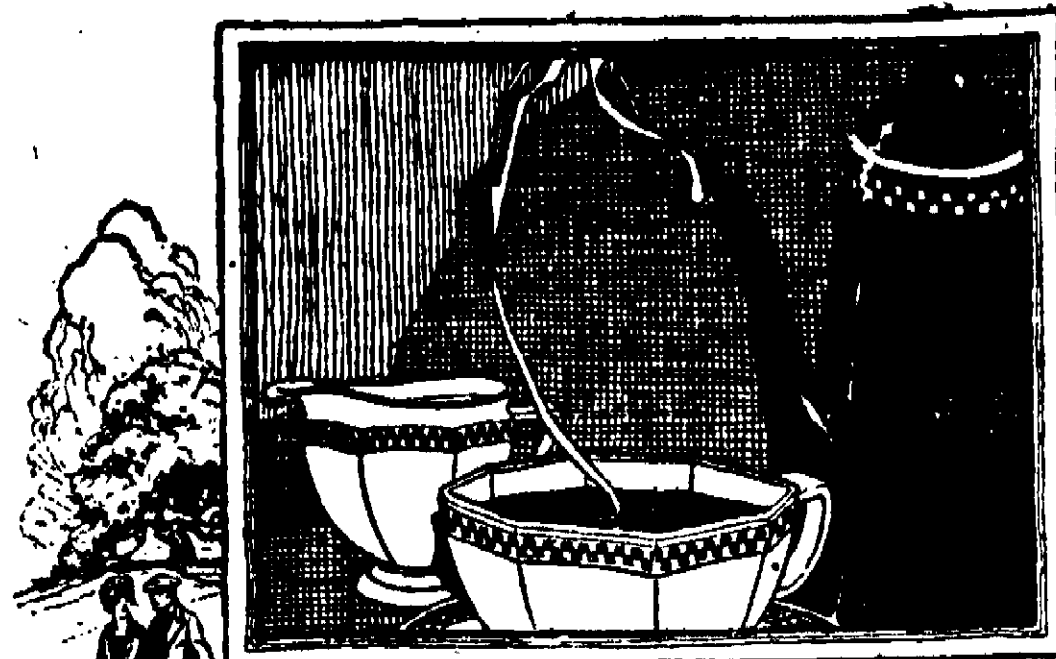

California Girls a Riot—Will Rogers at Keene's.

Admirers of beauty will have a vision of loveliness by making a trip to the Opera House tonight or tomorrow where the California Bathing Beauties are creating a sensation by their excellent singing, dancing and posing specialties. These famous girls are appearing in person in conjunction with the photoplay "Up in Mary's Attic," all about the cutest little baby in the whole world who had to be hid away until its mother could inherit millions from a crusty old uncle. The scenes are taken in a girls' seminary and show all the life and athletic sports of a girls' college and the pranks they play and the mischief they create make a comedy of snap and ginger interspersed with a vein of pathos and drama.

Will Rogers in "The Strange Boarder," at Keene's tonight. This is a story of faith. If you had been swindled out of your savings and thrown into prison for a murder which you did not do, could you keep your faith in your fellow man? That's exactly what Will Rogers does in "The Strange Boarder" and Rogers has grown to be one of the screen's greatest characters. Tomorrow Clara Kimball Young in "Eyes of Youth," Marjorie Marsh in "Wits vs. Wits" at the Auditorium tonight offers a sensational detective mystery story that brings over with thrills. A two part western drama is also programmed starring Al Jennings. Tomorrow Carlisle Blackwell and Ethel Clayton in "A Woman's Way."

In its blending of laughs and heart thrills, "Lightnin'" is a famous comedy success which John Golden will present at the Kingston Opera House Thursday night and be compared only with Mr. Golden's earlier success, "Turn to the Right," which was written by the same author, Winchell Smith. Milton Noble, one of the most eminent of American character actors, emerged from fourteen years' retirement to appear in the title role of the play in New York this summer, and he leads the company to be seen here.

A Rome divorce court and a hotel on the California-Nevada border particularly calculated to meet the needs of would-be divorcees, are prominent features of the play, as

As fresh as if warm from the roaster

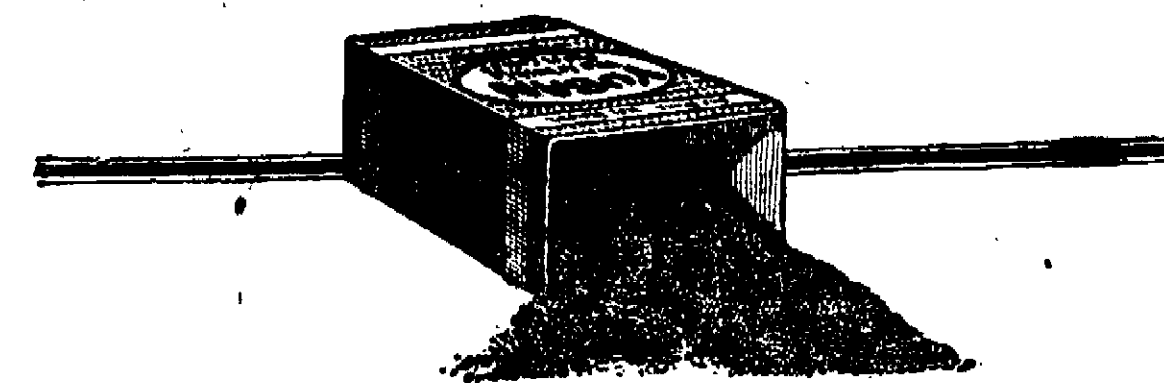

THE moment you taste Yuban, you notice its wonderful freshness.

To give you the full native richness of the Yuban flavor, Arbuckle Brothers roast it in special individual roasters—just the size of the one they used when they reserved Yuban solely for their own private enjoyment.

They do not risk letting a bit of this rare flavor escape. They know that loose coffee loses its aroma and absorbs odors as readily as butter.

Fresh from the roasters, they package Yuban with all its unusual flavor—package it so that none can escape.

These are the reasons why the perfect flavor of Yuban comes to you as fresh as if it were still warm from the roasters.

The End of a Perfect Meal

No other desserts are so attractive in appearance, so satisfying and delightful in flavor, as

MY-T-FINE Puddings

There are four different kinds: Chocolate, Nut-Chocolate, Maple-Nut and Macaroon, and each flavor can be made into many different desserts. You can use My-T-Fine plain, with whipped cream or fruit, or for ice cream.

My-T-Fine is not a jelly-powder; it is more than a mere flavor. It is a real dessert and one package will serve six people. It is economical, sugar is already in it, and it is rich in food value.

Your grocer has My-T-Fine.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BE CAPTURED

acted as his stenographer and took them down on tablets of stone and brought them to the people, who if they broke those laws had not only man's but the divine taboo.

These boys seemed to have no idea of the spirit of right and wrong in any moral sense. Dr. Bell considered that there were three sets of life considerations: First, God; second, one's neighbors; third, self, important in the order mentioned. The right idea is first allegiance to God who created us; then service to our neighbors, with the happiness of self the last consideration. When this order is turned upside down, and self is put first, then the comfort and happiness of one's neighbors and finally service to God it is thought about at all, we have sin, a dangerous condition socially.

For some time our little old world had not been running as it should but we did not realize that fact and appreciate the danger until the world war awoke us. With it we realized that Germany was considering herself the one nation to be served by all of her neighbors, and if God was counted in at all it was as a being to be coaxed to use some supernatural influence to increase the selfish gain. Just as there is the individual sin of selfishness so there is a class sin and a national sin of putting the least important factor to be considered, self, in the position of the most important, God.

With our awakening we went about it to smash the German ideal and idea of immortality. We did smash Germany, but in the so doing it would seem, according to Dr. Bell, that instead of smashing the ideal, we had inoculated the whole world with the same sin, selfishness, and this applied to America as well as to the countries of the old world.

In the industrial world conditions are no better. The time had been when the investor, whether his investment was $5 or $5,000,000 was after the greatest gains to be squeezed out in the way of interest on his investment for his own pleasure and spending. Finally labor got tired of being exploited by the investors, but instead of profiting by the ugliness of the object lesson, labor simply said it would do all of the exploiting itself. So Dr. Bell considered that in today's labor world we have the two groups each trying to out-exploit the other, the investors and the laborers.

As the result of many years of reading history, not the history of kings and rulers, wars and conquests, but of the peoples of the world, Dr. Bell said he had come to the conclusion that there had never been a time when people were as little happy as today. While there had been times when there had been great epidemics, when people had lacked the comforts of life that we now count necessities, still for sheer happiness they would not go to the twentieth century to find it.

In spite of the findings of the present-day scientist that the laws of gravitation were not as immutable as we had thought, the speaker said he had observed that people were not any more frequently jumping from third story windows than formerly, for they knew that if they did something would break, whether or no the law of gravitation did. Just so, one thing was dead and sure, the most certain way to lose happiness was to go after it and the only way to get happiness was to forget self in the service of others. Such being the case, and with this thought and knowledge quite foreign to those hundred thousand lads whose only idea of right had been not to break the letter of some law, educationally they certainly were unprepared for successful living.

Education was not for one moment the accumulation of knowledge of facts. It should be the training of our youths so that at the age of twenty-five they would have a working theory of life, and at thirty a working philosophy of life.

Dr. Bell begged for a reuniting educationally of our schools and churches, inasmuch as it is out of the question in our democracy, made up of peoples of all religions to have religious education in our schools, for absolutely of first importance in that working theory and philosophy of life must come man's relation to God. He told how the Gary idea, worked out in different ways, and still with some difficulty, was growing, whereby for one day or part of a day of the school week, the children were sent to their various religious group centers or churches to receive religious education. In other places pupils received counts for actual work in their Sunday schools, etc.

But how is this great idea for which our boys fought finally, whatever our first real motive of entering the war may have been, to be put over to our young people? The average man or woman, the world over, does not think in the abstract. He or she thinks about persons, members of the family, friends, their mayor, governor, etc., teacher, preacher, etc. Then obviously the answer is that this ideal of considering God first, then one's neighbor, and if there is time or opportunity left, oneself last, must be lived by people to teach others how to so live.

Dr. Bell begged of those before him to so live themselves as to be the concrete example of what they would have the children in their schools to be. And under God, he begged them never to teach their children that there was any particular value in owning anything, but in using things and doing things for others, showing by the great examples of history that the men and women who had been the most successful had been those who had given the most and best service to the world; not those who had tried to get the most out of the world. And he further urged the inculcating of that spirit in the child mind that should make for a new wedding of ethics and education, which alone can make well the present world sickness.
